

Module Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G1As
Module Coordinator	Kristin Waschke (Head of Language Group Other Languages)
Scheduled Semester	See programme regulations
Duration	One semester
Module Status	Elective Module
Frequency	every semester
ECTS Credits,	4
Module contact time in weekly study hours	4, of which max. 25% online teaching
Learning Outcomes/Competences	German as a Foreign Language: Beginner Level 1/General Language (CEFR A1) The module focuses on the development of listening, reading and speaking skills on everyday topics. Language ability in all skill areas (listening, speaking, reading, writing) is developed with the following aims: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Reading and understanding of short texts, - Engaging in simple dialogue, - Understanding and application of basic grammatical forms and structures.
Level	1a
Requirements	none
Recommended Prerequisite	Participation in preparatory intensive course – beginners without prior knowledge – approx. 40 hours
Examination Type	Exam (90 min.): Grammar, reading comprehension, text production, listening comprehension
Examination Grading	Differentiated into grades
Assigned Units	German as a foreign language – General Language G1As (PE)
Module Applicability	All German as a Foreign Language modules G1
Recognised Modules	All German as a Foreign Language modules G1
Notes	Can be chosen as second language in English-language degree programs (see corresponding study regulations) as well as in international exchange programs

Unit Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G1As (PE)
Corresponding Module Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G1As
Language	German
Proportion of workload for the unit	100 %
Proportion of contact time in WSH	4
Learning Form	Practical Activities
Unit Content	Topics: Introductions, making contact, family, job, free-time activities, shopping (groceries, furniture), invitations, getting around town. Grammar: Phonetics (alphabet); numbers, measurements, times; articles in the nominative and accusative case, conjugating verbs in the present tense, negations, modal verbs, prepositions, adjectives.
Literature	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Course and workbook "Menschen A1.1", Hueber-Verlag. • Course and workbook „Netzwerk neu A1“, Klett-Verlag.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Course and workbook „DaF kompakt A1“, Klett-Verlag. Additional material for exercises and individual practice is provided by the lecturer.
Notes	Can be chosen as second language in English-language degree programs (see corresponding study regulations) as well as in international exchange programs

Module Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G2As
Module Coordinator	Kristin Waschke (Head of Language Group Other Languages)
Scheduled Semester	See programme regulations
Duration	One semester
Module Status	Elective Module
Frequency	every semester
ECTS Credits,	4
Module contact time in weekly study hours	4, of which max. 25% online teaching
Learning Outcomes/Competences	German as a Foreign Language: Beginner Level 2/General Language (CEFR A2) The module serves to introduce grammatical structures and develop ability in all skill areas (listening, speaking, writing, reading) with the following aims: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Formulating wishes and obligations, - Formulating questions, - Formulating future and past events, - Describing people and objects, - Explaining movements, - Reading and understanding moderately complex texts.
Level	1a
Requirements	none
Recommended Prerequisite	German as a Foreign Language beginner level 1 (CEFR A1)
Examination Type	Exam (90 min.): Grammar, reading comprehension, text production, listening comprehension
Examination Grading	Differentiated into grades
Assigned Units	German as a foreign language – General Language G2As (PE)
Module Applicability	All German as a Foreign Language modules G2
Recognised Modules	All German as a Foreign Language modules G2
Notes	Can be chosen as second language in English-language degree programs (see corresponding study regulations) as well as in international exchange programs

Unit Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G2As (PE)
Corresponding Module Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G2As
Language	German
Proportion of workload for the unit	100 %
Proportion of contact time in WSH	4
Learning Form	Practical Activities
Unit Content	Topics: Jobs, family, apartments, shopping, getting around town, free time, working life, CVs. Grammar: Present perfect and simple past, two-way prepositions, articles in the dative case, word formation, adjective declinations, temporal prepositions and adverbs, general subjunctive mood.
Literature	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Course and workbook "Menschen A2.1", Hueber-Verlag. • Course and workbook „Netzwerk neu A2“, Klett-Verlag.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Course and workbook „DaF kompakt A2“, Klett-Verlag.• Additional material for exercises and individual practice is provided by the lecturer.
Notes	Can be chosen as second language in English-language degree programs (see corresponding study regulations) as well as in international exchange programs

Module Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G3As
Module Coordinator	Kristin Waschke (Head of Language Group Other Languages)
Scheduled Semester	See programme regulations
Duration	One semester
Module Status	Elective Module
Frequency	every semester
ECTS Credits,	4
Module contact time in weekly study hours	4, of which max. 25% online teaching
Learning Outcomes/Competences	German as a Foreign Language: Beginner Level 3/ General Language (CEFR B1.1): The module serves to further develop ability in all skill areas (listening, speaking, writing, reading) with the following aims: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Introducing learners to specialist language (reading and comprehension of business information, texts and graphics), - Expanding general language skills (engaging in dialogues on everyday topics), - Consolidation of basic grammar knowledge.
Level	1a
Requirements	none
Recommended Prerequisite	German as a Foreign Language beginner level 2 (CEFR A2)
Examination Type	Exam (90 min.): Grammar, reading comprehension, text production, listening comprehension
Examination Grading	Differentiated into grades
Assigned Units	German as a foreign language – General Language G3As (PE)
Module Applicability	All German as a Foreign Language modules G3
Recognised Modules	All German as a Foreign Language modules G3
Notes	Can be chosen as second language in English-language degree programs (see corresponding study regulations) as well as in international exchange programs

Unit Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G3As (PE)
Corresponding Module Name	German as a foreign language – General Language G3As
Language	German
Proportion of workload for the unit	100 %
Proportion of contact time in WSH	4
Learning Form	Practical Activities
Unit Content	Topics: Media, journeys and forms of travel, weather, events, press and books. Grammar: The passive voice, verbs with accusative or dative, verbs with prepositions, location prepositions, prepositional adverbs, past perfect, demonstrative pronouns, adjective declinations.
Literature	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Course and workbook "Menschen A2.2", Hueber-Verlag. • Course and workbook „Netzwerk neu A2 – B1“, Klett-Verlag.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Course and workbook „DaF kompakt A2 - B1“, Klett-Verlag.• Additional material for exercises and individual practice is provided by the lecturer.
Notes	Can be chosen as second language in English-language degree programs (see corresponding study regulations) as well as in international exchange programs